You're very late, bud. But you have your homework. Okay, hold on to that. If it's not one hundred% completed, I'm not accepting it, okay? Alright, gentlemen, focus up here. Ali, go to talk Aide in the hall please. Come here. I want you to talk to Aide. Okay. So, while Aide and Ali are having a little conversation, I wanna catch you up on what we're doing today. So, I do have a meeting in just about a few minutes, so Sub is supposed to be coming down here and teaching. I expect to hear an excellent report about what's happening today. It's a fun class, and I'm sorry I'm gonna miss it, but... that's okay.

Okay? So those are some clues in the story. So when we're reading, it's really important that you make inferences, because if an author was to tell you every single that happened, the stories would go on forever. Okay? So it's important that when you are... you're reading, that you make inferences about things that are going to happen. So... who can give me a definition of inferencing, what it means to inference? So you saw in that example how they went back to the text and showed me, and you guys have done that all morning, so far, since you've been here. Greg, you can return to your seat. So, what we're going to be for the rest of this class, for the rest of the day, is we're gonna be doing some inferencing. So we're gonna start off with a fun activity. What I have here are these sheets of paper, and you're gonna pick sheet that says or you're gonna pick a sheet of paper that says Now when you get it, I'd like you to read it to yourself silently. If you need help, and you need Aide or I to read it to you, raise your hand, and we'll come over and read it to you independently, but there can't be any talking, okay? You gotta be quiet so other people can think about what they're reading. What I would like you to do... is read the passage. So we're gonna do this one together. And then on the lines, I want you to tell me where am I? And after you write it down, I'm You're done, okay. We're gonna turn onto the next... how much time do I have left? Okay. Once you're done with this worksheet, I'm gonna ask you to put it on the... hmm, where am I gonna have you put it? Why don't you put it on this back table, cause we're gonna complete this worksheet tomorrow. I'll give you an opportunity to put your stickers on the board, put your packets, journals, and books away. Okay, so there's a lot of activities that need to be done. And you can even... recycle the who I... Who Am I or Where Am I sheet.

So here?

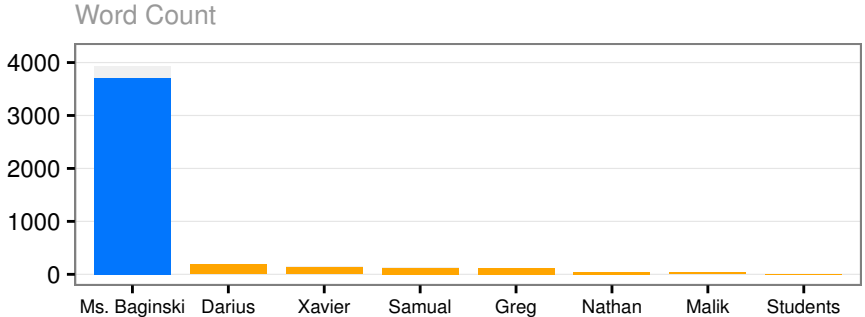

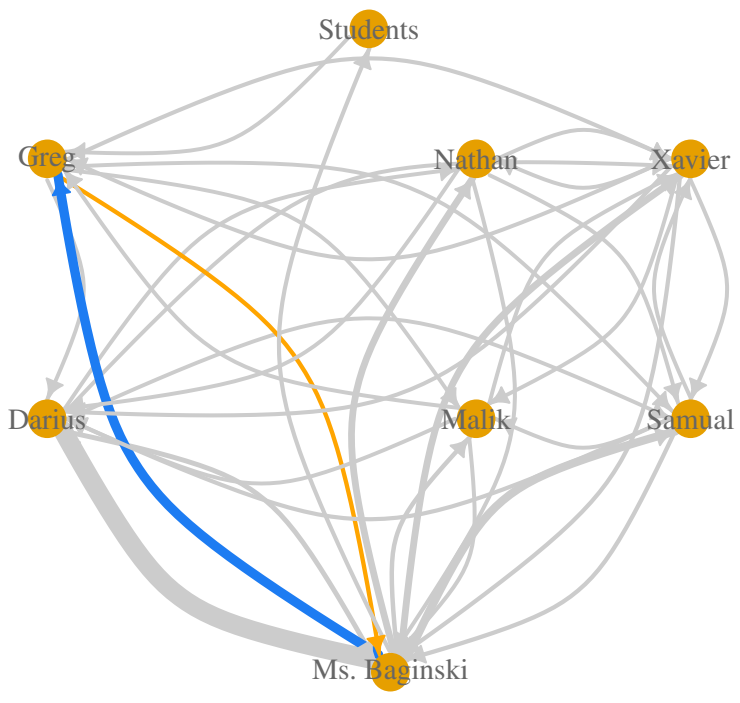

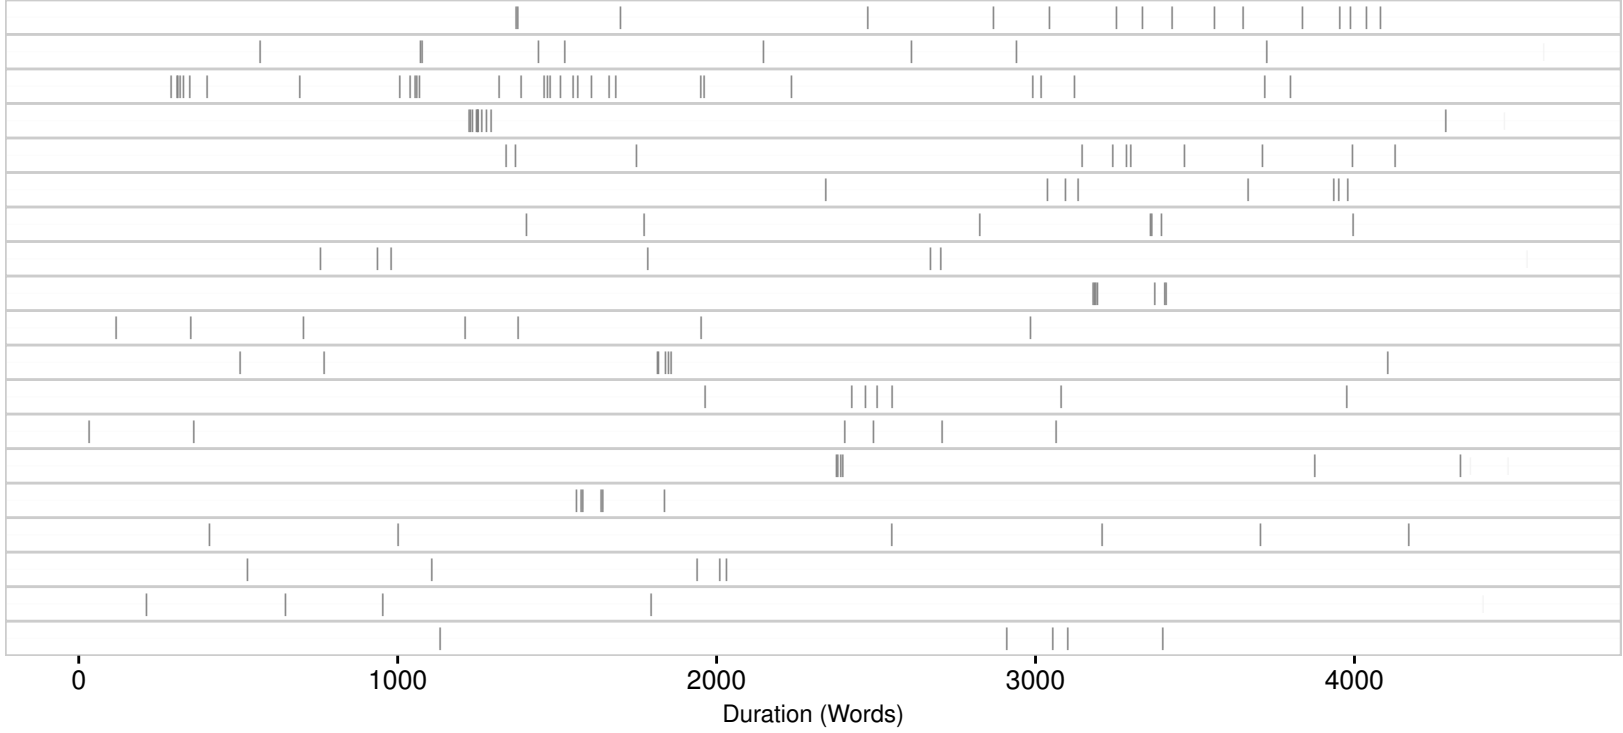

Ms. Baginski Turn: 216 Length: 23 words
Formality: 47.8 Readability: 4.1

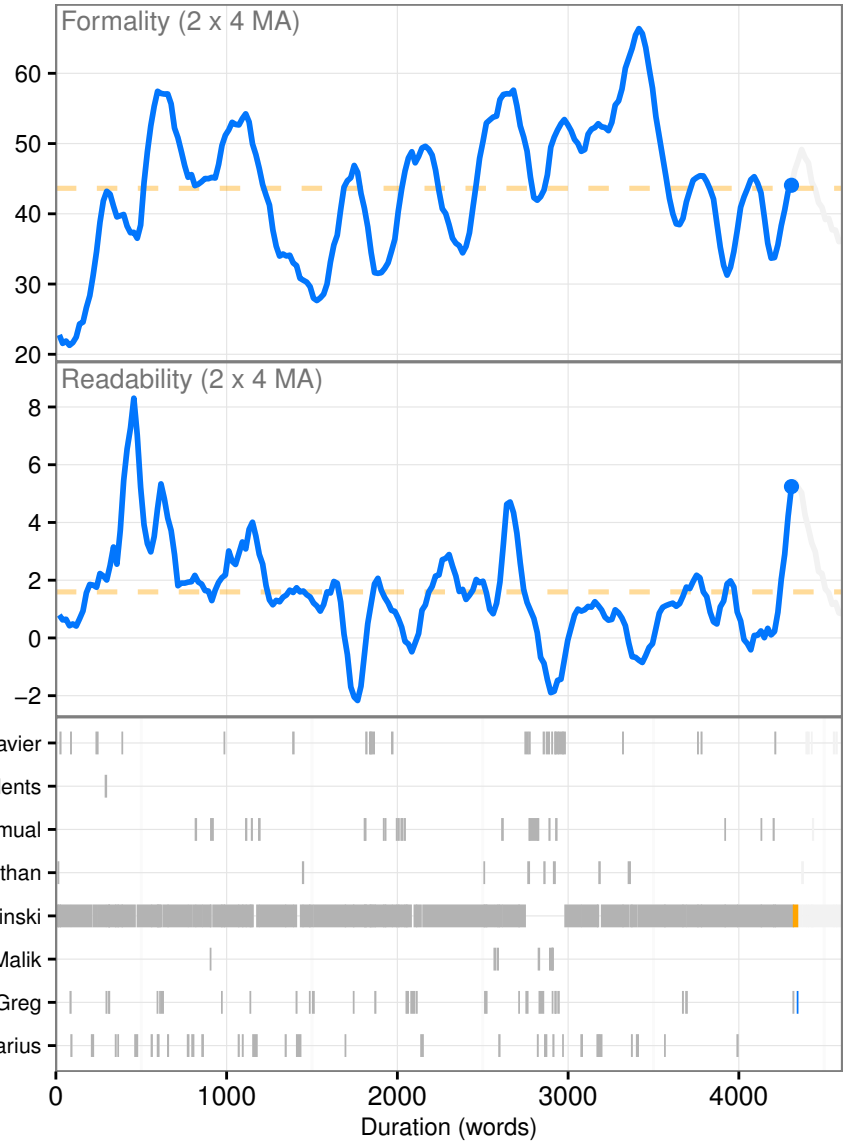

Yep, that's fine. Make sure you put your stickers up, honey. And highlighters can go... go in the container. Those can be recycled.

Okay, well, be nice to each other. Working towards those ice creams. You're welcome. Nice work today. This work needs to go over there on the table. This work , put your name on it. Journals need to go away, Outsiders books need to go away. Highlighters need to go away. Samual, packet goes on... Xavier, can you help everybody else get... get situated? There's a lot of things out still. Samual, under your desk, all that stuff needs to be picked up. Thank you. Can you put that away for him? I like the teamwork I'm seeing. Once you're in your seat, I will come around with a piece of candy, because you guys did an awesome job today.
